Manufacturing procedure

The second step of granite manufacture begins in the factory after the first step of granite quarrying is finished at Indian granite quarries. This is where trucks are unloaded and granite stone items are chopped into blocks.

Crane gantry

The process of unloading trucks begins when they arrive at a factory. Here, the truck is unloaded at factories using gantry cranes.

Cutting machines with many wires

In addition to unloading trucks, multiwire cutting machines are used to cut Granite blocks into slabs. These devices reduce granite labor and operate more quickly.
